

Chabot College Media Advisory

Media Contact: Jennifer Aries

(925) 784-0574

jennifer@25comm.com

Media Advisory Chabot College Ethnic Studies Department Announces 4th Annual Ethnic Studies Summit

---

The Chabot College Ethnic Studies Department is proud to announce Chabot College's 4th Annual Ethnic Studies Summit featuring award-winning journalist, executive producer, and author, Maria Hinojosa and activist, academic, and author Angela Davis.

The 4th Annual Ethnic Studies Summit will be held virtually on two dates:

Who: Chabot College Ethnic Studies Department

What: Professor Angela Davis, former political prisoner, author, professor and co-founder of Critical Resistance a leading organization in the prison abolitionist movement joins us for a conversation to discuss the importance of Ethnic Studies, her work in the prison abolition movement, the Black Lives Matter uprising, and next steps in dismantling oppressive systems and transforming our society.

When: Friday, March 12, 9:30 a.m. - 11:00 a.m.

Where: To register for this virtual event, visit: <https://rb.gy/bkiksl>

To learn more about Angela Davis, see her biography: <https://www.speakoutnow.org/speaker/davis-angela>

What: Maria Hinojosa, multi award-winning journalist, author, anchor, and executive producer of Latino USA on NPR joins us for a conversation to discuss her work on centering diverse stories, independent media, and her memoir.

When: Friday, March 19, 9:30 a.m - 11:00 a.m.

Where: To register for this virtual event, visit: <https://rb.gy/1otl0p>

To learn more about Maria Hinojosa, see her biography: <https://www.futuromediagroup.org/maria-hinojosa/>

Both events will include a sign language interpreter. For questions about the events or the Ethnic Studies program at Chabot College, please email Kay Fischer at: kfischer@chabotcollege.edu.